

Wendy Cocks, Housing Action Officer

Wendy has worked across the North of England for 20 years developing and managing services with older people. While this has been predominantly in the voluntary sector, it has included innovative partnerships with statutory partners in affordable warmth, health and social care. Her work has included development of older people's forums and supporting their engagement with local government. Wendy has worked for Care & Repair England since 2007 (now p/t), supporting local older people's action groups, forums and self-help groups to undertake and support initiatives/local action/projects that aim to improve the housing and living conditions of older people. She has extended this support to local and regional bodies interested in improving their integration with housing, health and social care and housing offer to older people.
