10. Health and Housing

This quick guide provides practical resources and information for Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCGs) from a range of national and local organisations on how housing and health can work together to prevent and reduce hospital admissions, length of stay, delayed discharge, readmission rates and ultimately improve outcomes

10. Health and Housing

The guide highlights 3 key ways in which housing can assist health and social care organisations:

1. Help prevent people from being admitted to hospital;
2. Help people be discharged from hospital; and
3. Support people to remain independent in the community.

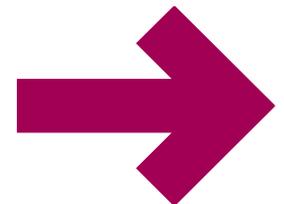

The document also summarises how housing organisations can:

- Provide health and wellbeing services
- Improve people's home environments
- Improve safety, sustainability and suitability of people's homes
- Provide step up/ step down services
- Offer advice on housing options

Future housing projects

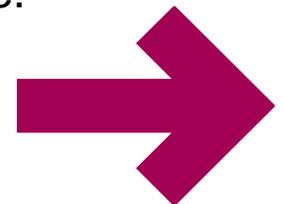

- Acute trust housing engagement programme
- Integrated Discharge Team Quick Guide publication
- Housing MOU development – reducing delayed transfers of care
- Homelessness and health project – developing alternatives to acute health pathways

The importance of Collaboration

- The most striking differences between improving and deteriorating sites were not the presence or absence of specific services, but overwhelming differences in leadership, culture and strategic development at the whole system level characterised by strong stable leadership, a shared vision and strategy, and common values across the system.

Andrew Wilson et al (2014) Establishing and implementing best practice to reduce unplanned admissions in those aged 85+ through system change.
